FiberOpticsInstitute

Dave:

I recently completed the online FiberOpticsInstitute training course, and found it to be complete, understandable, and interesting. I have taken many online training courses before, and the FiberOpticsInstitute is the best online course I've ever studied. It has a depth of practical knowledge, which is not included in many of the online technical courses I've completed.

The hands-on "Certification Lab" that I attended was also excellent, as it was unbiased to any vender and combined specific information with instructor-led exercises that completed my training in fiber optics.

This combined training course was well worth the investment.

Please use me as a reference for others who may be interested in fiber optics training.

Best Regards,
